Abstract

The possibility of economic system with relying on the Holy Quran is one of the topics that has occupied some researchers' minds. This writing is going to deal with studying the answers of three issues of Quran-based systematization, existence and lack of existence of economic system in the Holy Quran, and at the end, the possibility of systematization based on the Holy Quran. In order to achieve the answers of mentioned questions, we have benefited from interrogation method of Shahid Sadr and content analysis technique. The obtained results show that there is no possibility of enlightening economic system based on customary definitions on economic topics in the Holy Quran. Although the Holy Quran has dealt with the topics of economic school in some cases, but it has not explained it multilaterally. However, with relying on the Holy Quran and Sunnah, presenting an economic school is possible.
