Abstract

Today's contemporary world is a world of struggles and conflicts. These conflicts show themselves in many matters, but they reach their peak in the lifestyle of today's people, which is represented in the field of culture. Justice is the same concept and virtue that sets foot on the field for these conflicts, and this time, because the arena is the arena of culture, cultural justice will be considered. However, the main problem in the development of social justice and, consequently, cultural justice in a society, is the lack of criteria and the measure. The field of cultural justice as one of the areas of collective life has not been refined to the extent of political justice and economic justice of work and its criteria. Therefore, we are facing a big problem in the discussion of cultural justice criteria. It seems that first, according to the debates about the criteria in social justice, the types of criteria in cultural justice should be examined. This article aims to explain the considered criteria in cultural justice. Cultural right, cultural good, cultural work, cultural need, equality of cultural opportunities, and a combined criterion are among the criteria of cultural justice, which can be the criteria for the expand of justice in the field of culture.

Key words: Justice; cultural justice; criteria of justice; criteria of cultural justice; right; need; equality.
