Abstract

Although there are many orientalists from the western world who have bowed before the boundless truths and greatness of the Holy Quran and have acknowledged the miracles of this divine book in various fields of expression, science, knowledge, etc. Using the techniques of eloquence and rhetoric such as "repetition" in Quranic verses, words, stories, problems and criticisms have been raised. These contents have been the subject of taunting and claiming that the Quran is not miraculous or not revealed. In addition to quoting and criticizing the views of Orientalists, the present article is in the position of expressing the types and causes of repetition in the Qur'an and explaining the rhetorical secret of its repetitions. Considering the rhetorical sciences and techniques and the importance and function of repetition in terms of politeness and expression, it is appropriate to take a new look at the existence of repetition in the Holy Qur'an. This article aims to analyze and explain this importance.
